

American Water Resources Association
— Alaska Chapter —

Spring 2026 Conference Call for Abstracts

Anchorage, Alaska

April 6 & 7 at Kincaid Chalet

Abstract Submissions are OPEN through March 27th

We invite you to submit abstracts relevant to water resources topics:

Stewardship - Regulating, monitoring, and protecting ecosystems

Development - Planning, designing, & protecting infrastructure considering a changing climate

Management - Sustaining water resources for shared ecological functions and anthropogenic

GIS and Modeling - Improving understanding through numerical & geospatial approaches

Water Quality and Limnology - Maintaining clean water and healthy ecosystems

Cryosphere - Dynamics of snow, ice, glaciers, and other cold-regions processes

Challenges for Coastal Communities - Extreme weather events, coastal flooding and erosion, and impacts to communities

Land Hazards - Mitigating risks associated with landslides, earthquakes, and permafrost degradation, and other land-based hazards

Community and Indigenous Perspectives - Observing change, impacts to subsistence, and adaptation

AWRA-Alaska is now accepting abstracts for

- Individual Presentations
- Poster Sessions (student posters welcome)
- Panel Sessions
- Lightning Talks
- Workshops

Submit Abstracts Here

Shared Waters, Shared Solutions
Strengthening Connections in a Time of Shifting Hydrology